Overall, there was not much substance to this game. I was really excited to play it because the concept is really cool. I dont feel that it is a BAD game, but whether or not it was worth the price is debatable. In the game you are just searching for items that will aid you in escaping from a monster(s) that walks one pathway, and are not aggressive whatsoever. Depending on how fast you find the items will determine how fast you beat the game.
